

ART REMAKES THE WORLD

Wednesday, October 17, 2018 • 6:30 pm
Mary Hollis Clark Conference Center

How did Black visual artists reflect, celebrate, examine, or critique the Civil Rights Movement in depictions of the struggle against oppression? Join Dr. Denise Rogers, professor and curator of Mesa College's World Cultures Artwork Collection, for a stimulating discussion on the role of artists during the movement for civil rights and in the continuing struggle for social change.
