

LAUNCHPAD AT THE LIBRARY

SOCIAL INNOVATION SPRINT

We're looking for teens wanting to become Social Innovators—entrepreneurs dedicated to the most pressing problems facing us today. Interested teens will learn design thinking and entrepreneurial skills at our latest Social Innovation Sprint: Smart Cities. Smart cities use sensors, technology and data to sustainably improve peoples' quality of life through efficient and streamlined services. Hear directly from experts in the field and the challenges in tackling this problem. At the end of the program, students will work in groups to pitch their ideas to a panel of judges!
