

San Diego Public Library & University of San Diego Copley Library present:

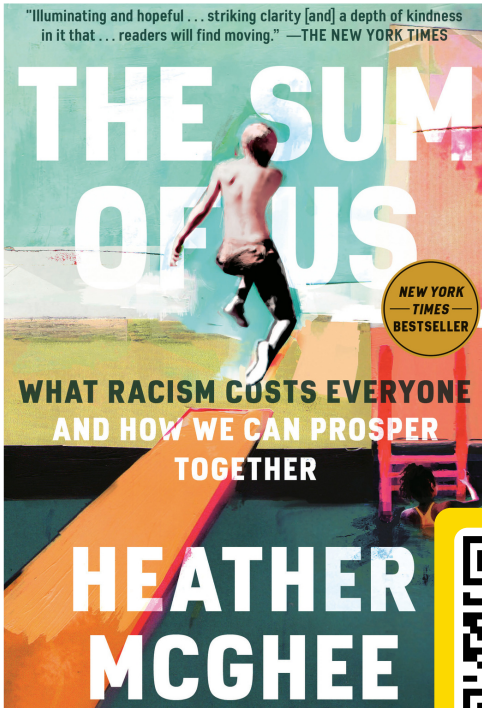

THE SUM OF US

AN EVENING WITH HEATHER MCGHEE

Monday, February 28 · 6:30 p.m.
Virtual & Streamed Event · San Diego Central Library

From rising student debt to collapsing public infrastructure, educator Heather McGhee gets to the root of why the American economy fails the public: racism in politics and policymaking.

It's expensive and hurts all of us, not just people of color. How did this happen? How can we prosper together?

Register today to reserve a spot for this Black History Month author event as part of our Books for Good Trouble: Social Justice Dialogues* series.

mysdpl.org/heathermcghee

Registered attendees may pick up a copy of The Sum of Us at the Central Library circulation desk, while supplies last. This program was made possible in part by the Institute of Museum and Library Services.

For disability-related information, modifications or accommodations email: JFRogers@sandiego.gov

San Diego Central Library @ the Joan A Irwin Jacobs Common
330 Park Blvd., 92101 · (619) 236-5800

