Tuesday, August 6 • 6:00pm - 7:30pm • Central Library

Exploring creativity and the connections between lovers of the ocean and writers of Prose and Poetry.

Join us for nosh, music and an evening of culture, inspiration and fun

The Discussion

San Diego Poetry Annual's Michael Klam, a lifelong surfer and poet/artist, will lead a conversation with San Diego local surfers, poets and creatives whom find their inspiration from San Diego County's sunsets, surf and the sea.

Details forth coming, please check the website often for updates!

The Spoken Word

Following the conversation, there will be a limited opportunity for patrons to share their 3 minute take on the subject. To be eligible to participate, pick-up a raffle ticket at the door.

The Friends of the Central Library

The Friends of the San Diego Central Library will be hosting an event with opportunities to take home some amazing swag including a custom designed surfboard event by internationally acclaimed and local legend board shaper, Hank Warner. Everyone who attends will be eligible for the drawing. Support the Friends for additional opportunities. Information on the Friends website is currently being updated. Please check back.
