Thomas C. Sanger

1 p.m., Saturday, June 2, 2018

Mary Hollis Clark Conference Center

Join San Diego-based author Thomas C. Sanger for a reading and discussion of his book, "Without Warning." Sanger has written for a variety of publications and audiences during a thirty-year career in journalism and corporate communications. He is the author of numerous articles and non-fiction books. Without Warning is his first novel.

Without Warning is a historical novel based on the true story of the sinking of the Athenia from the perspective of eight people: six passengers, Athenia's chief officer, and the commander of the German U-boat. The story is personal as Sanger's grandmother was aboard the ill-fated ship and survived the German torpedo attack in 1939, hours after the war's official start.

*Author of the Month meets the first
Saturday of every month.*
